

Seven Airmen Given Awards In U-Boat 'Kill'

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—(CPI)—The "probable" sinking of a German U-boat by the crew of an R.C.A.F. flying boat operating from the east coast station, announced several weeks ago, now is officially recognized as a "kill" it was disclosed today in citations covering decorations to the airmen.

The distinguished flying cross was awarded to two members of the crew, the distinguished flying medal to another, and citations in dispatches to four others.

Following are the awards:

D.F.C.
Sgt. Ldr. Harry Haig Moffit, A.R.C., captain, Toronto, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Moffit, live at 1500 St. George.

Pt. Charles E. Somers, first wireless operator, Montreal, who was a warrant officer (2nd grade) at the time of the action.

D.F.M.
Cpl. Harold Kneesh, second engineer, St. John's, Nfld.

MENTION IN DISPATCHES
PO John D. Hooper, co-pilot, Pelham, Ont.

Pt. Sgt. Norman Woz, London, Ont.

Pt. Sgt. Phillips Arnold Corbett, second wireless operator, Vancouver, B.C.

Sgt. William Redwell, first engineer, Montreal, Sask.

REFER TO ACTION
The citations refer generally to four periods of valuable service in anti-submarine operations, but each refers specifically to one action in which the flying boat, the "Gannet" squadron, sank a U-boat.

The submarine was first sighted by Kneesh and when the aircraft moved forward to attack the enemy, the crew and front gun were still asleep.

Death charges were dropped within 10 feet of the U-boat at which time the explosion hurled the craft back to the surface. It was then that the crew members with little forward movement and then sank, immediately rose to the surface but before long had spread to a sink 800 by 200 feet. Floating in the oil were planes and bombs apparently from the deck cataclysm.

The early assessment was "probable kill" but today's citations call it "destroyed."

Resistance of Nazis Stiffens On Italo Front

Resistance of the Nazis has stiffened on the Italo front since the capture of the city of Salerno. The German forces have managed to hold their ground despite the heavy Allied bombing and the arrival of American troops.

The sharp advance eliminated a deep salient southwest of Salerno. From Montecitorio a branch road leads to Rome, and the German forces are determined to hold this position at all costs.

EXPAND AIR BLOWS
The Allies definitely holding the initiative against the north-west African air forces, which have been unable to launch any significant attacks.

The Italian campaign now impetus and expand the field of operations to Greece. A telling blow was struck at Bolzano, the north Italy communication hub 30 miles below Brennero Pass.

The American heavy bombers planted their heavy loads of bombs squarely on the German lines, which runs through Bolzano, destroying it and disrupting the German supply lines.

First Sea Lord Resigns Post Due to Illness

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(CP)—Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, first sea lord and chief of the naval staff, has resigned because of ill health. It was announced last night. He will be succeeded by Admiral of the Fleet Sir Andrew Cunningham, commander-in-chief of naval operations in the Mediterranean.

Sir Dudley, who is 66, entered the navy in 1904, and served in the Mediterranean under Gen. Douglas Eisenhower, Allied commander-in-chief. Sir Andrew, who won one of the greatest victories in British naval history when the Italian fleet gave up the fight, became commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean fleet when Sir Dudley was appointed first sea lord.

Sir Andrew's new duties are expected to take him from the Mediterranean post in the near future but there was indication in London last night who would succeed him.

The new first sea lord knows the Mediterranean perhaps as no other man. He defeated units of the Italian fleet in the final stages of the war and spent the last months before Italy's surrender attempting to lure Mussolini's warships from hiding for a final fight.

SERVED IN FIRST WAR

Sir Andrew also was attached to the Mediterranean fleet in the First Great War. He served in neighboring waters during the Boer war. He was serving in one of his few land jobs—as deputy chief of naval staff—when this war broke out, and took his assignment as commander of the British Mediterranean fleet with great relief.

"I never was any damned good at office work anyway," he told friends.

Sir Andrew is considered the personification of the Royal Navy, a strict disciplinarian who holds the respect of his men. He is known throughout the navy for his powerful physique.

Admiral Pound has been prominent in three critical periods for the navy. He commanded the British fleet at the Battle of Jutland and in 1925, when with Italy threatened over Ethiopia, he was placed in command of the Mediterranean fleet.

He was appointed chief of naval staff in 1929 and soon after was given the rank of admiral of the fleet.

Popularly called the "father" of Britisha present naval strategy, which emphasizes aggressive action, he attended Prime Minister Churchill's 1941 warship conference with President Roosevelt at which the Atlantic Charter was drawn and later conferences.

HOLDS HIGH ORDER

Sir Dudley is one of two living naval officers to hold the Order of Merit, which he conferred on him Sept. 5. He was also director of the admiralty planning division in 1922-23, lord commissioner of the admiralty and assistant chief of the naval staff in 1922-29, rear admiral in 1929-31, and from 1932 to 1935 was second sea lord and chief of naval personnel.

Appoint Officer Pensions Chief

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie announced last night the appointment of Brig. James L. Melville, M.C., P.D., as chairman of the Canadian Pension Commission, succeeding Brig. Gen. H. F. McDonald, who died recently.

Brig. Melville, born in Glasgow Dec. 20, 1888, is a great chief engineer of the 1st Canadian Army and has been granted release from duty to take his new appointment.

Brig. Melville has been an official of the Pensions office in the Health Department and its predecessor, the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment department, since the first Great War, and was in charge of the department of the army to rejoin the forces in May, 1940.

He took his degree of engineering at the West of Scotland Technical College and came to Canada in 1913, engaging in structural engineering at Vancouver and Seattle, Wash.

On April 6, 1942, he was made chief engineer of a Canadian Corps with the rank of Brigadier. His appointment as chief engineer of the first Canadian Army dates from June, 1942.

Danes Intensify Acts of Sabotage

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Danish patriots blasted German troop barracks, two power stations and two war material factories in a re-intensified sabotage campaign yesterday which provided a militant answer to Germany's attempted purge of the 10,000 Jews in Denmark.

The free Danish press service here said one of the heaviest bombs ever used by saboteurs wrecked the important power station at Aalborg, near Copenhagen. Another station at Ribe was damaged and explosions wrecked portions of a troop barracks at Løkken on the Skagerrak coast off Jutland where large contingents of Nazi troops are assigned to guard against a possible Allied invasion.

Other damage was caused by saboteurs at a factory at Hillerød producing aircraft and tires for German armored vehicles, and to a machine factory manufacturing war materials near Copenhagen.

Status of Italian Fleet Undecided

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today that the Italian fleet surrendered at Malta, raising anew the question of the status of that fleet.

The statement was made in a letter to the Admiral of the Fleet, Sir Dudley Pound, who resigned today at first sea lord and chief of the naval staff.

The prime minister expressed regret at Sir Dudley's resignation, attributed to illness, at a time "when control of the Mediterranean is vitally within our grasp, when the Italian fleet has made it surrender in the Malta harbor."

Viscount Cranborne told the house of lords Sept. 24 that the Italian fleet did not surrender. The prime minister had moved to designated points under the terms of the Italian armistice, and that the fleet's future was being decided.

King Victor Emmanuel said in a broadcast: "The Italian fleet, which was sailing in its own colors and in the light flag, has surrendered."

Civil Servants Retirement Ages Of 60, 55 Urged

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—(CP)—The parliamentary committee of the Canadian Legion's Ottawa branch has unanimously adopted a resolution urging the post-war retirement of all male civil servants at the age of 60 and women at 55.

The committee, which includes civil servants in its membership, recommended also the retirement of all civil servants who had spent 30 years in the service. This action is suggested as a post-war measure to make room for thousands of new veterans, young men and women.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Reg. Will Rogers, Jr., home from a seven-week visit to England and Ireland, said yesterday it could not be assumed that Germany's production has been crushed by British and American bombing raids.

Rogers told newsmen that regardless of devastation disclosed in the pictures of bombed areas, Germany is moving plants to the front to minimize transportation difficulties and taking others inland to avoid bombs. A stronger Nazi defense, he added, "has been paying off in the last few months."

Capt. Clark Gable Wins Air Medal For Courage, Skill

From the workshops of Tip Top Tailors comes one military garment...every 8 seconds!

Every time your watch ticks off 8 seconds, a military uniform of some kind is completed at Tip Top Tailors. Day in, day out, hour after hour, this remarkable record of production has continued without letup.

Since 1939 this has been our all-out job. The skill and experience gained in over three decades of outfitting Canadian men and women has, of course, helped us to meet and overcome the many production problems which were inevitable. And so today from the "clothing arsenal" which is Tip Top Tailors, flows a steady stream of fine uniforms for the world's best-dressed men and women—the Armed Forces of Canada.

This will help you to understand why there must be a delay at times in delivery of civilian garments to our customers—for the greater part of our facilities is devoted to war needs. Without question, this must have priority over all other production. We are sure you agree with us.

Prevent Fires

This is Fire Prevention Week. The schools in Alberta being closed, there is being lacking the classroom instruction and drills which commonly impress the purpose upon the minds of the boys and girls. Older folks are therefore responsible more than at other times for seeing that the younger ones in the homes are reminded of the importance of making the fire hazard as small as possible. The best way of doing this is in the classroom rather than at home, and the moral will be best learned if the services of the children are enlisted in making the home and home surroundings as safe as can be.

While fire prevention is a timely subject anywhere and any time, there are few places in Canada where it is so vital as in Edmonton, that the danger be reduced to the minimum. Houses here are crowded beyond all calculation at the time they were built and are now crowded to the point of being impracticable under pressure of abnormal demand. To a degree safety has had to be sacrificed to this urgent need of accommodation. The hazard thus created can only be offset by unusual precaution, as to the conditions and the use of heating appliances particularly.

It is the lighter building of a tenement, no less than that of a landlord, to know that stoves, furnaces, smoke pipes and air conductors are properly installed and that to every other possible way the premises be put beyond foreseeable danger. Fire prevention is everybody's business, and the time to attend to it is now.

A Better Outlook

The coal miners in Alberta and British Columbia will certainly suffer no loss of public sympathy because they have agreed to submit their claim to increased wages to a board of referees. This body is of course to include a representative of the mine workers. In agreeing the miners avoid a clash with the law and at the same time refrain from making the fuel situation worse than it is. This body is of course to include a representative of the mine workers. In agreeing the miners avoid a clash with the law and at the same time refrain from making the fuel situation worse than it is. This body is of course to include a representative of the mine workers.

With winter approaching and fuel supplies the country over below the estimated requirements, it is good news indeed that the mines are to keep producing while the question is threshed out. In securing assent to this arrangement the commission headed by Mr. Justice O'Connor who has good service to the public, and also to the miners and operators, both of whom must have lost money had a tie-up occurred. While this may yet occur, every day it is delayed is important, and the fact that the strike threat is being removed is ground for hope that a satisfactory settlement will be reached.

It is probable that most of the strikes in recent months across Canada have never happened if tempers had been kept, irritation avoided, and the matters at issue dealt with in a like amicable spirit.

Japs in Italy

The first unit of American-born Japanese to enter a combat zone went into action north of Salerno, a hot corner if there ever was one. The dispatch adds they "went in with a splash." The unit was recruited in Hawaii. The commander said he "wouldn't trade his command for a job in any other army." Strong testimony surely, remembering that "the army" is the Fifth.

It is one of the tragedies of the war that there is no way of reading a person's mind and telling whether his professions of loyalty are real or pretended. In Canada practically every one of Japanese extraction is treated as a suspect. In Italy, however, things are to be said for the idea of giving a man a chance to show which side he really is on. The love of freedom does over-run national and racial boundaries. The name a person bears or the blood in his veins is no unerring guide as to whether he wants to be killed around by a dictator. At best, suspicion on these grounds is only a "safety first" impulse.

No one would propose sending Canadian-born Japs to fight in Italy. It is a relative, but if enough of them want to help smash Hitlerism it can be questioned whether they should not be allowed to form units and have a chance to do their bit. Our neighbors seem to think that is sound policy. If the Hawaiian unit in Italy makes good, the loyalty of its members will not be subject to doubt, or the Fifth army will stand upon for them.

Getting Less and Less

The last of the Axis forces are running the gauntlet of Kerch Straits in an attempt to get out of the Caucasus bridgehead into the Crimea. How they will succeed or not may be decided in a matter of days, for they have lost their last secure foothold on the Kuban peninsula and Russian planes and warships are disrupting their passage across the water gap. How much safer the survivors will be in the Crimea is also on the question list, as that area is under air attack and the escape route way and highway to the north.

With the fugitives goes Hitler's hope of capturing the Caucasus oil fields, and it marks a final loss of a relatively small field from which the Axis was drawing supplies a few months ago. The Rumanian wells are now under two-direction air attacks, from Russia and from Italy. Polish supplies are still available to the Luftwaffe and the submarines, but that source is limited. Germany's aircraft and Donetz steel have been completely cut off, and mainly on synthetic plants—and these synthetic plants are not as numerous as they were before the British-based bombers singled them out for particular attention.

The departure of the Nazi forces from Rumania symbolizes the growing scarcity of oil for the enemy, as well as marking the definite fading of any prospect of gaining control of the Caucasus wells. How seriously this curtailment of supplies is hampering Nazi operations on land and sea and in the air cannot be known. That the supplies were being conserved for emergency use has been evident for some time. It proves that the oil is a factor even for the needs of defensive war, a problem that some one in Berlin must be studying with growing concern.

Flying Fortresses from North Africa bombed war factories in Munich, while Liberators from the United States blasted munitions plants near Vienna. Without straining their imaginations, people living in those areas can reach the conclusion that they had better be on their toes. These monster bombers are flying from fields in southern Italy and in Corsica, only half as far away. The comparative immunity of southeastern Italy has been proved. The bomber attack ended when the Allies made good their invasion of Italy, Sardinia and Corsica.

All roads from southern Italy "lead to Rome," and along all of them Allied forces are harassing the retreating enemy. That the latter will attempt to make the capital is probable. It is also probable that when they can no longer hold it they will repeat there the destruction which made their last days in Naples so infamous. The recently radiocast concern for the cultural and historic monuments of the ancient city is not likely to restrain Kesselring's frenzy to avenge himself on the Italians.

Fall fashions—in all their glory to beguile the feminine eye, have arrived in Edmonton, and on this picture page are a few outstanding examples of what fashion designers have in store for midday this fall and winter. Everything from "hair-do's" to shoes have been restyled and are appearing in shop-windows and on the streets in autumn's fashion parade.

Top and bottom of the left column illustrate two new hair styles. Miss Paul, at the top, has her hair done in the "Winged Victory" style, while at the bottom, Miss Wolanski models the "Regimental Sweetheart" style.

At centre left, H.R.H. the Princess Alice is seen as she appeared on her recent visit to the city. Fashion experts say Her Royal Highness, long noted for her impeccable choice of dress, set new heights of chic with this suit and accessories.

In top centre, Mrs. Foley, formerly of Honolulu, models a moss green boucle coat, with a collar and panel of dyed lynx.

At lower centre, Miss Campbell wears a full length bright silver fox "swapper," with Miss Morala wearing a youthful natural lynx casual, and Mrs. Fletcher models a Persian lamb broad-lace fur-trimmed coat with opera cuffs in the new platinum shade. The large muff is smarter than ever this year, and pictured is one of natural badger.

Mr. Parker, at top right, presents a pre-winter preview of what the well-dressed worker in the north will wear this winter. The coat is sheepskin-lined. Fur mitts and scarf and sun goggles complete the outfit.

At bottom right, Mrs. Cochran wears a sea-green crepe dress, with shoes of black gabardine.

Premier Ernest Manning Gives Warning Against Financial Dictatorship

Unless the Social Credit movement is organized for political action on a nationwide scale, the people of Canada will be faced with the choice between a financial dictatorship or a totalitarian state dominated behind the scenes by the same financial powers. Premier Ernest Manning declared in an Edmonton address Monday night.

"At a recent joint caucus of the Social Credit members of parliament and Social Credit members of the legislative assembly, this situation was carefully reviewed and plans were formulated for action on a nationwide scale," the premier said.

"A national campaign fund is being created and organization work will get underway without delay. We are going into action with a single purpose. To help mobilize the forces of all true free-loving Canadians to the end that this country shall be saved from the disaster towards which we are drifting, and to assure that every citizen is guaranteed full and absolute economic security and freedom."

Speaking with the premier was Hon. A. J. Hooke, provincial secretary, who discussed work of the government fire and life insurance offices.

Mr. Manning's speech in full is below. It is followed by Mr. Hooke's.

For some time it has been evident that despite the importance and the seriousness of the war, the people across Canada are becoming extremely concerned about the domestic political situation. They are completely disillusioned with the old political parties and their schemes; their broken pledges; their patronage system; and their failure to give the people the conditions they want, which they know are possible and which they have a right to expect.

It is plain to everyone, beyond any possibility of doubt, that the old parties are so bogged to the existing system of financial monopoly that they plan to retain it as the basis of the post-war economy. The people of Canada, particularly the men of our fighting forces and their dependents, are determined that they are not going back to the shameful conditions which that system produced before this war.

Fire Loss Is $1,565,186 For 1942 Is Report

Total fire loss in Alberta for 1942 was $1,565,186, a decrease from the 1941 total of $1,848,335. It was reported Tuesday by the Insurance Underwriters' Association of the province.

The losses in 1942, approximately 85 per cent, representing property valued at $1,523,743, were approximately 10 per cent of the total for Canada, which amounted to $22,238, and was caused by 47,396 fires.

These facts are revealed in statistics issued by the association, in connection with Fire Prevention Week, which is being observed from October 5 to 11.

In the last five years, Alberta fire losses have amounted to $7,222,380, an average of $1,444,360 per year, or a per capita loss average of $1.84.

THE CHARTERED BANKS of Canada keep abreast of the Dominion's expanding needs.

Six times since 1870 the Bank Act under which the Chartered Banks operate has been revised by parliament—six times in that period the activities of the banks have been carefully scrutinized by the people's representatives.

Every ten years the Bank Act has been thus revised. Each one of the six decennial revisions has contributed much to the evolution of the banking system to meet the expanding needs of a developing Dominion.

In 1934 the sixth revision of the Bank Act was made. Fifty members of the House of Commons made up the committee, which examined witnesses—among them bank officers, government officials and reformers—and studied exhibits filed by various individuals and organizations.

Findings were submitted to the House, and later that year the Bank Act was revised in many important particulars.

Through democratic enquiry and decision, the Canadian banking system has grown and been adjusted to meet the needs of the people, providing a depositary for savings and a sound basis for Canada's free economic development.

To Attend Meeting Pensioners Told Excess Demands Defeat Purpose

Members of the Alberta Pensioners' Society were told Monday night by J. Percy Page, M.L.A., that he was personally prepared to co-operate fully with pension societies. He wanted to do what he could, he said, but what he did would have to be done through the pensioners' organizations.

Mr. Page told his listeners that

Charles A. Jacobus, field director for the American Red Cross will leave Saturday for Seattle, where he will attend a conference with American Red Cross field directors from the northwestern Canadian and Alaskan area. He will be away about 10 days.

Intervention in Miners' Dispute

Intervention of the dominion government in the coal miners' wage dispute in the Alberta and Saskatchewan coal fields has prevented a stoppage of mining was demanded in a resolution passed unanimously by delegates of the

"When you ask for something too high, you defeat your purpose," continued the speaker, who suggested that pension age reductions should be made "step by step."

Pensions, he added, must not be made a political football.

In response to the question put at him concerning regulations affecting earnings of old age pensioners, he said that the government would stand, and that incomes apart government in the coal miners wage dispute in the Alberta and British Columbia fields to prevent a stoppage of mining was demanded in a resolution passed unanimously by delegates of the Municipal Trades and Labor Council at a meeting held Monday night in the Labor Hall.

The speaker said that even though lack of fuel had driven men from their homes by bullets and shells, R. S. Evans, American union delegate and secretary of the Peace Officers' Union, told the audience he would ask the Trade and Labor Council to support the miners in their fight against the coal strike.

ORDERS CONFUSING

He said that the present situation had been created through the confusion of orders issued by governmental bureaus. These orders were so contradictory that it was impossible to arrive at a clear understanding of what was going on.

From pensions came a reduction in the amount of the pension itself. When the speaker thought it right, added the speaker, and while he will fight it, he warned his listeners that they must be prepared to cut and earn a high wage and still collect some money.

PICTURE SLIDES

Pictorial slides shown by Clarence K. Miller were enjoyed, as was a short program, contributed by the local branch of the Y. W. C. A., Elizabeth Moore, violinist; and Mrs. J. B. Robertson, accompanist.

A collection of booklets headed "Jack Jones," was distributed. Mr. Jones was the hero of the ceremonies for a short time—so-

Wage demands of the miners, who are not yet on strike, were just and should be granted. MIRA has been called upon to work at depressed wages, and they should be supported by labor throughout Canada in their demands that the miners be paid a wage that would permit them to live in a decent manner.

The responsibility for a continuing supply of fuel rests with the union, he said. "It is not in that responsibility it should be 'kicked out of office' Mr. Evans stated. He suggested that the union should be made to do the coal mining industry in Alberta and British Columbia to weed out the mines that are not being up to the standard of the industry and also to determine what assistance could be given to mines that place them on an economic basis for their operation.

MINING OUTPUT

At Airds, P. P. Taylor, president of the union, said that the union workers and the management Alex Young, business agent for the Hotel and Restaurant Workers' Union, had agreed to a new Edmonton Trades and Labor Council Monday night.

The Trades Council, by unanimous vote, will support the union in its fight to force the weeding out of the mines that are not being up to the standard of the industry and also to determine what assistance could be given to mines that place them on an economic basis for their operation.

Mr. Young told delegates that a "lockout" had been created by the management through the failure to implement the regional board's award in respect to the the Trades and Labor Council, was of the opinion that the government must see to it that coal production not halted, and that it must be prepared to meet the request of the ners either through the payment of a subsidy to the coal operators or through the sale of mines to some other employer. The mines would be sold at a price that would permit them to enjoy a decent standard of living, and that was provided to prevent strike action.

He said that strike action in Edmonton would be very unpleasant as there was no storage coal available. The total storage coal in Edmonton would not exceed 500 tons, he added.

The executive committee of the the wage increase granted by the board by Mr. Young that the management had intimated that no porters were employed in the hotel, and therefore the ruling of the board did not apply. Mr. Young added that there had never been a junior classification in Edmonton and that the board's decision in the King Edward management was an excuse to side-step the board's order.
